

DISTANCE education 2005 Report Topical Index

Accessibility

A New Way to Evaluate Accessibility

By Mary Lou Santovec - March 1, 2005

Apply Universal Design for More Effective Courses

By Judy Dahl - March 15, 2005

Accessibility and Universal Design

By Mary Lou Santovec - May 1, 2005

Climbing the Ladder: Web-Based Courses and Low-Income Learners

By Judy Dahl - July 1, 2005

Choices Foster Online Success for Students with Learning Disabilities

By Judy Dahl - September 1, 2005

Serving Special Populations Through Distance Education

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - November 1, 2005

Broadband Internet Reaches Rural Learners

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - December 15, 2005

Administration

Is Distance Learning a Democracy? Think Twice.

By Susan Gaide - January 1, 2005

DE Programs Should Have Their Own Emergency Plans

February 1, 2005

Automated Admissions Make the Most of Staff, Budget

By Mary Lou Santovec - August 1, 2005

Using Project Websites in Distance Education Administration

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - October 15, 2005

10 Ways to Improve Online Learning

October 15, 2005

UmassOnline Takes USDLA Top Prize

November 15, 2005

Assessment, Standards, Benchmarks

St. Petersburg College: New Levels of Efficiency in Reviewing Online Courses

By Sandra C. Ceraulo - February 15, 2005

How Penn State Converted a Landmark Study into a Program Evaluation Framework

By Catherine Stover - April 1, 2005

Online Course Evaluation Project Launched

August 15, 2005

Beyond Multiple Choice: Assessment for Online Learning

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - September 15, 2005

Ongoing Student Evaluation Essential to Course Improvement

October 15, 2005

Evaluating Distance Education Programs with Online Surveys

By Susan Gaide - October 15, 2005

Collaboration

UT Campuses Collaborate on Online Education

By Sandra C. Ceraulo - May 15, 2005

Inter-Institutional Alliances Lower Costs and Risks

By Judy Dahl - October 15, 2005

Community college

Secrets of Online Success: Lessons from the Community Colleges

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - June 1, 2005

Course design & pedagogy

Course Quality and Instructor Workload: Pt. 1

January 1, 2005

Course Quality and Instructor Workload: Pt. 2

January 15, 2005

Visual Design: It's More than Window Dressing

By Judy Dahl - May 15, 2005

Designing for More Students, Sections: An Interview with Suzanne Dunne

August 1, 2005

Understand Online Learner Types – Create More Effective Courses

September 15, 2005

Ask Naj: Humor

By Najmuddin Shaik - November 1, 2005

Ask Naj: Gaming

By Najmuddin Shaik - December 1, 2005

Faculty & staff

Secure Website Improves Faculty Recruitment, Development and Retention

By Judy Dahl - January 15, 2005

IUPUI "Jump Start" Program for New Faculty

January 15, 2005

A Quality Teacher in Every Classroom: Three Universities, Three States, One Online Teacher Certification

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - February 15, 2005

Students Aren't the Only Ones Who Benefit from DE

March 15, 2005

The Four Stages of Faculty Development at Empire State

By Catherine Stover - April 15, 2005

Making Great Hires for Your Technical Staff

May 15, 2005

Developing Basic Online Teaching Skills, Encouraging Experimentation

June 1, 2005

The Indiana Wesleyan Model for Faculty Training

July 1, 2005

Kent State Offers Learning Communities for Online Instructors

July 1, 2005

Faculty Learning Community: Diverse Groups Discuss Asynchronous Communication

July 15, 2005

Helping Faculty Create an Active Online Learning Environment

July 15, 2005

Faculty Perceptions of Distance Learning

September 1, 2005

Boosting Faculty Participation in Support Activities

By Judy Dahl - October 1, 2005

Defining, Supporting Faculty Excellence

By Mary Lou Santovec - November 1, 2005

Advice for Instructors Making the Transition to Online Instruction

November 15, 2005

Peer Mentoring Builds Faculty Satisfaction

By Judy Dahl - December 1, 2005

Can Faculty Members Do It All at a Distance?

December 1, 2005

5 Common Fears About Teaching Online – Fact vs. Fiction

By Patti Shank - December 15, 2005

Giving Part-Time Online Instructors What They Need

December 15, 2005

Funding, budget

Counting the Costs of Distance Education

By Mary Lou Santovec - April 1, 2005

Sustainable Funding Model Expands Students' Opportunities

By Judy Dahl - May 1, 2005

For-profits

The University of Phoenix Way

March 1, 2005

For-Profits Disclose Their Numbers

By Cynthia Rodgers - March 15, 2005

Strong Growth in For-Profits, Despite Legal, Regulatory Woes

May 15, 2005

Governance, law & policy

TEACH Act Update

January 1, 2005

Mastering the Politics of e-Learning

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - July 15, 2005

How e-Learning is Changing Higher Education: A New Look

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - August 1, 2005

Computer Ethics 101

By Judy Dahl - August 15, 2005

Who Owns the Rights to Online Courses?

By Judy Dahl - November 15, 2005

Hybrid courses

RIT's Approach To Blended Learning

March 1, 2005

Hybrid Design Enables Individualized Learning Experience

March 1, 2005

Blended Design Improves Core Course, Introduces Students, Faculty to Online Learning

April 1, 2005

Hybrid Format Supports New Wave of Public Health Officials

By Mary Lou Santovec - September 1, 2005

International education

Web-Enhanced Course Internationalizes Business Curriculum

February 1, 2005

Report on International Distance Education

March 1, 2005

World Conference Calls for "Open Educational Resources"

By Catherine Stover - June 15, 2005

International Students Need Help Online

October 1, 2005

Leadership

Distance Education Leaders and Mental Models

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - January 1, 2005

Mainstreaming

Bringing Distance Education into the Mainstream

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - April 1, 2005

Marketing

A New Approach to Marketing Strategies for Distance Education

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - April 15, 2005

Project SAIL Creates Market for Specialty Course

April 15, 2005

Marketing Distance Programs and Courses: A Relationship Marketing Strategy

By Catherine Stover - August 1, 2005

The Power of Popcorn: Low-Tech Marketing Secrets from Old Dominion University

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - September 1, 2005

Metrics

Are On-Site Courses as Effective as Online?

By Dale Fowler - April 15, 2005

Military

US Military Eyes Online Mental Health Care

May 15, 2005

Defense Department Fosters "Common Language" for DE

By Sandra C. Ceraulo - July 1, 2005

Program Development

Drexel e-Learning Triumphs at Ninth Annual Webby Awards

July 15, 2005

Boston U. Orchestrates Groundbreaking Music Program

December 15, 2005

Resources

Transforming Online Humanities Education: The H-OEH Network

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - February 1, 2005

Website Offers World of Learning Possibilities

February 15, 2005

Library Support for Distance Learning

June 15, 2005

Optimal DE Gateways Serve as "Pathfinders" to Online Library Resources

By Susan Gaide - July 15, 2005

Instructor-Librarian Collaboration Can Improve Course, Make Librarian More Effective

November 1, 2005

Retention & recruitment

Measuring – and Understanding – Student Retention

By Catherine Stover - August 15, 2005

Increase Retention by Establishing Institutional and Faculty Benchmarks

By Susan Gaide - September 15, 2005

Addressing Retention in Distance Education: The SIEME Model

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - November 15, 2005

Students

Building Lifelong Learning Communities for Seniors

February 1, 2005

Lessons Learned About Student Issues in Online Learning

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - March 15, 2005

Serving the Post-Modern Student: Personalization is Central

By Susan Gaide - June 15, 2005

Dissertation, Distance, Disappointment: A Cautionary Tale for Distance Educators

By Sandy Stack - August 1, 2005

Seven Steps to Meeting the Technical Needs of Online Students

By Susan Gaide - August 15, 2005

Online Student Services for Multiple Institutions: Lessons from Texas

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - August 15, 2005

How Online Students Can Improve Overall Student Quality

By Jennifer Patterson Lorenzetti - November 15, 2005

Support Services

“Melbourne Model” Proposes a Holistic Approach to Online Student Support

by Sandra C. Ceraulo - March 15, 2005

Looking for Ways to Provide Online Library Services Equal to On-Campus

September 15, 2005

Online Services Keep Syracuse Students Satisfied

By Judy Dahl - November 1, 2005

e-Writing Center Brings Services to Online Students

By Mary Lou Santovec - December 1, 2005

Technology

Faster Bandwidths Increase Research Opportunities for DE Students

By Sandra C. Ceraulo - February 1, 2005

“DEEP” Focus on “PUPIL”: Key to Rich, Cost-Effective Distance Learning Delivery

By Susan Gaide - February 15, 2005

The Move Toward Open Educational Resources

May 1, 2005

Benefits of Upgrading to an LMS

By Sandra C. Ceraulo - May 1, 2005

Aside: An Open-Source, Web-Based Tool for Anonymous Student-Instructor Dialogue

May 15, 2005

The Coming Convergence of Technology: A View From the Hill

By Mary Lou Santovec - June 1, 2005

IT Support: New Realities, Fewer Benefits

June 1, 2005

Top 10 Challenges in Educational IT

June 1, 2005

Using Blackboard as an Intradepartmental Communications Tool

September 1, 2005

Web Conferencing Solutions for Higher Ed: Buyer Beware

By Susan Gaide - October 1, 2005

Ask Naj: Podcasting

By Najmuddin Shaik - October 1, 2005

To Make High Tech Education Work, Get Middle-Tech Right

November 1, 2005

Streaming Audio, Video, Level the Online Playing Field

By Samuel Berns - December 1, 2005

Open University Applies Moodle on Grand Scale

December 15, 2005