How Can I Encourage Students to Stay Connected with Course Content After Class?

Rehearsal and reflection are two scientifically proven techniques that affect student brain activity and extend the classroom experience. Learn techniques you can use to deepen student understanding of course material-after class is over-that you presented in the classroom. These techniques include creating reflection videos and cartoon making, among others.

This 20-Minute Mentor demonstrates how to engage your students outside of the classroom by getting them to think more deeply and take topics from the classroom to the next level.

Upon completion of this program, you'll be able to:

- Learn to use patterns and emotions in student retention of information
- Discover techniques you can use to deepen student understanding
- Apply brain-friendly techniques your students can use once they look at the material outside the classroom
- Apply active learning to your favorite content
