

MAGNA SEMINAR SERIES

SEPTEMBER 7, 2021

Engaging and Interacting with Students in Online Courses

The pedagogy of online teaching has become one of the most important dialogues across all sectors of education. Student engagement is linked to student success, especially in the online classroom.

This Magna Online Seminar details important quality enhancement for teaching strategies in order to improve engagement and help students succeed. Through four strategies—curating essential information, enhancing instructor presence, aligning learning content and material with the expectations of the course, and creating meaningful engagement through interactivity—you will learn how to refine your course-design practices and to refresh your approach to online teaching.

Upon completion of this program, you'll be able to:

- Fine-tune course design practices with a focus on engagement
- Refresh online teaching to connect with students
- Reflect on continuous improvement strategies to maximize student engagement
