How Can I Reach and Teach Struggling Students?

Students struggle. We know that. Are they struggling now more than ever with all that's going on? Probably. However, evidence-based techniques can change students' mindset to one of growth and success.

This 20-Minute Mentor demonstrates just that! This 20-Minute Mentor delivers evidence-based strategies that can be implemented immediately into any course format that will help educators reach and teach the struggling students in their classes.

Upon completion of this program, you'll be able to:

- Identify and apply evidence-based strategies in the classroom to support struggling learners before, during, and after instruction
- Be self-reflective as an effective teaching practice
