How Can I Move from Supporting to Empowering Trans-spectrum Students?

When students feel welcome and included, they have a better chance for academic success. Yet LGBT students, especially transgender students, can unfortunately feel unwelcome or alienated in the classroom.

This 20-Minute Mentor provides strategies and tools to help create a more inclusive classroom for transgender students. Jonathan Howle, EdD, Learning Design and Development Technologist at Guilford College, will show you how making small, inclusive adjustments to communicating with students will help them feel more comfortable, perform better academically, and grow personally.

Upon completion of this program, you'll be able to:

- Better understand what trans students are experiencing in the college classroom
- Create a more inclusive and welcome classroom environment for all students
- Facilitate student personal development
